COPPER ENAMELS, STONEWARE BY WEBERS FEATURED IN MARIAN LIBRARY ART EXHIBIT

DAYTON, Ohio — “Cosmic Realities,” an exhibit of copper enamel and stoneware pieces by Dayton artists Joan and Louis Weber, will be on display at the University of Dayton’s Marian Library Art Gallery Sept. 7-Oct. 29. The display features images of creation.

“Reverence for clay as sacred space is the philosophy, spirit and purpose integrated into my pottery,” says Joan Weber, who attended the Dayton Art Institute, UD and the Benedictine School of Spiritual Directors in Pecos, N.M. “Each work conveys its own message, and the message becomes an ongoing residual of creation as it is absorbed into the eye of the beholder.”

Louis Weber teaches jewelry construction, jewelry casting, copper enameling, stained glass construction and calligraphy at UD. He was head of the UD art division from 1983-1990 and attended UD, the Dayton Art Institute, Ohio State University, Catholic University of America, Hobart Welding School and Miami University. “My Marianist background was a fertile inspirational source for many of my enameling themes. Over the years, I have developed a deep reverence and respect for all of creation,” he says.

The Marian Library, the world’s largest and most comprehensive collection of printed material on Mary, is located on the seventh floor of Roesch Library on campus. It holds more than 85,000 books and pamphlets in more than 50 languages, ranging from the 15th century to the present.

Gallery hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays and other times by appointment by calling (513) 229-4214. Admission is free.
